Pages Friday, March 4, 2013 Surprising World Pet of the Day Today's World Pet of the Day is a small Asian gray squirrel named Mickey. Some of you may remember that I posted about Mickey in November 2011. He's an adorable gray squirrel and comes from the University of Texas, where he's being held in quarantine. You can read all about him in the Wikipedia entry. If you want to read the Wikipedia entry for Mickey, the link is here: Small Asian gray squirrel, sometimes called golden-bellied squirrel Photo taken by me from the Wikipedia entry. You can find more photos and information about Mickey in the Wikipedia entry. Thank you to everyone who left such nice comments on Mickey's first appearance. His picture here now has over 8,000 views. If you'd like to see Mickey in action, you can find a video of him chasing a chipmunk here: I have a soft spot in my heart for squirrels, and they're cute enough, but I have a soft spot in my heart for more the furry, fuzzy animals, which is why I feel kind of funny about liking Mickey. You wouldn't think that anyone would love a squirrel, wouldn't you? I knew I was a little nuts, but I love everything about him! My friend Dave is totally into all animals (he has a beautiful daughter, and I wish I'd had one--Dave loves girls as much as I do boys, which is not very much, and I have a son,
