A: Sublime Text is a brilliant cross platform tool, and it comes with a huge set of features. A great alternative. A: UltraEdit is the editor of choice for Windows. There is also a Linux version if your platform is Linux. My own view is that this tool is very bloated compared with the Unix versions, and is only very rarely the better tool. A different editor would be my choice as a Mac person. My TextMate experience, and that of many others, is that it does not work well with text files, but excels with the big tabular structures in code. Personally, I would use Emacs for writing a text file, and Vim for editing it. A great way to help others is to take your skills and your medicine. But, do not take it all — “a little and often,” is good. A little bit of time and effort you can give will go a long way. My heart breaks at what is happening in this country, in our schools, in our classrooms, in our community. It breaks because I am afraid for my country and for my kids. I’m scared for our future. I feel bad for those families whose stories I haven’t been able to cover yet. But I am so blessed to have a platform from which to share stories and to give voice to those who don’t have one. I want to thank all of you for being with me in this fight. Together we can make a difference for generations to come. We have to start talking about abortion and we have to start talking about men who are victims of this and get them into the system. We have to start talking about the black children in the womb that are being murdered. We’ve got to talk about them. Women are forced to have abortions or be sterilized. Almost 3 million black babies are killed in the womb. They don’t even get a choice. And we have to talk about that. And we have to talk about the number one killer in our country — guns. And I want to take a look at that, too. And I want to take a look at the way we are policing in our country and what’s happening to our country. I want to talk about all of that. But let’s start with abortion. 1cb139a0ed
