Q: Do we have some "print" command in PHP? I used to use echo in Javascript (I am a newbie in PHP...). I have always used print to send the result in HTML. Now I'm beginning to PHP, and I'm under Windows. But I can't find this command! I checked in my version of PHP. But found no print command. Is there a way to print the result of the PHP code? A: This is not a print command, this is a header command: header('Content-type: text/plain'); This is a print command: print($output); See the docs. A: This is something about the "echo" of the "php" module. Try to use the "print" command if you want to produce content.
